6. Does the clerkship follow the SOM guidelines provided below?

Becoming a physician includes learning to accept responsibility for one's patients 24 hours-a-day, seven days-a-week, 365 days-a-year, except when alternatives for coverage have been arranged. A number of students as deemed necessary by the supervising attending physician are required to round on weekends. Clinical departments have been instructed to give students ample time to attend religious services on Saturday or Sunday. Additionally, students are to have one day off in seven averaged over four weeks, and work no more than 80 hours each week.
